

Cohousing Supports Survey - Residents and Prospective Residents

This survey is part of a research study funded through Mitacs eAccelerate and Cohousing NL as the community partner. The goal of this research is to better understand why cohousing is generally not affordable and to inform innovation around how to make the development model more affordable and more broadly adopted across Canada (and hopefully transferrable to other jurisdictions). The data collected will be aggregated to develop common themes. It will also be stored indefinitely to support future research and innovation efforts aligned with the goal of more cohousing for more people. Data will be kept for a minimum of five years, as required by Memorial University's policy on Integrity in Scholarly Research.

We greatly appreciate your time and effort in completing the survey. This survey will take approximately 30 minutes to complete. Please know, there is no obligation to participate and you are free to exit the survey at any point, as well as leave any questions blank or answer in any format that works for you (point form, prose, poetry, etc.). Consent to participation in this research is implied by submitting the survey, either by submitting via the button online or filling out the form and emailing to the lead researcher Wendy Reid Fairhurst at wreidfairhur@mun.ca. Once the survey is submitted, the information will be added to all the other survey results so that your name and contact information (added only if you would like to participate in further discussions) will not be attributable to your answers in the survey. This also means that once submitted, we cannot remove the anonymous input from the rest of the survey data. If you do choose to add identifiable information, your name and contact details will be held confidentially and not shared with anyone outside of the research team. Please feel free to reach out if you have questions or concerns about this survey or how the information will be used.

Wendy is a PhD candidate in Interdisciplinary studies at Memorial University of Newfoundland in the departments of Sociology (why cohousing should be a more broadly adopted housing model), Critical Geography (what are the economic, political and cultural barriers and opportunities to increased adoption of cohousing in Canada), and Social Enterprise (what alternative business structures and funding models might increase affordable access to cohousing). Of note, Mitacs eAccelerate is a program to support student researchers who are also entrepreneurs, and as such Wendy is both a founding member of Cohousing NL as well as the funded intern on this research project.

As is the goal of this project, the findings and resulting solutions and/or tools will be shared freely online to support the goal of increasing cohousing affordability and increased adoption in Canada. If you would like access to this information, send an email stating your interest in being added to the email list that will send out updates for when the online resources will be available and/or when they are revised or updated.

There are no foreseeable risks to participants of this survey. Please feel free to reach out to learn more about the project, or if you have any hesitations or comments about this survey at wreidfairhur@mun.ca or 709-691-2890.

Cohousing Supports Survey - Residents and Prospective Residents

Thinking about the Future of Cohousing

These questions aim to support the creation of tools that might help more groups successfully create cohousing in the future.

Sort the following benefits of cohousing into priority of (1) lowest priority to (5) highest priority (only use a number once so that there is only one (1) lowest priority item).

Social connection	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>
Reduced living costs	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>
Participation in the design and management	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>
Increased ability to live more sustainably	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>
Informal supports (being able to rely on neighbours)	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>

Are there other important benefits of cohousing that were missed in the previous question?
